Exploring the Film's Themes

Vintage is a powerful and moving film that explores the history of race and colonialism in Haiti. The film tells the story of James Baldwin and Richard Wright, two African American writers who traveled to Haiti in the 1950s. Baldwin and Wright were deeply affected by their experiences in Haiti, and their writings about the country helped to shape the way that the world thought about race and colonialism. The film also explores the Haitian Revolution, the first successful slave rebellion in history. The Haitian Revolution was a watershed moment in the history of race, and it had a profound impact on the way that people thought about slavery and freedom.
