The Eurowestern, also known as the Spaghetti Western, is a subgenre of the Western film that originated in Europe in the 1960s. Eurowesterns are typically characterized by their low budgets, violent action, and often cynical tone. They were often produced in Italy, Spain, and Germany, and featured a cast of international actors, including Clint Eastwood, Sergio Leone, and Franco Nero.

Eurowesterns were a popular genre in the 1960s and 1970s, and they continue to be enjoyed by fans of Western films today. In recent years, there has been a renewed interest in Eurowesterns, and several new films have been released in the genre.

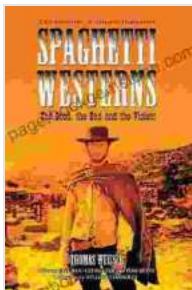

This filmography is a comprehensive illustrated guide to 558 Eurowesterns and their personnel. It includes detailed information on each film, including its director, cast, writers, and producers. The filmography also includes a brief synopsis of each film, as well as a poster image.
