The exhibition "We'll Always Have Paris" showcases a breathtaking collection of paintings and sketches that pay homage to the city's timeless beauty. The exhibition features works by renowned artists such as Camille Pissarro, Claude Monet, Vincent van Gogh, Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec, and Pablo Picasso.

Through their unique perspectives and artistic techniques, these artists have immortalized the iconic landmarks, hidden gems, and vibrant street scenes of Paris. From the imposing grandeur of the Eiffel Tower to the cobblestone streets of Montmartre, the exhibition offers a glimpse into the soul of a city that has inspired countless creative spirits.

The Impressionists

The Impressionists, with their groundbreaking approach to painting, were among the first artists to capture the fleeting beauty of Paris. Their works, characterized by vibrant colors, loose brushwork, and an emphasis on natural light, evoke the city's ephemeral charm.

- Rue Montorgueil, Paris, by Claude Monet

The Post-Impressionists

The Post-Impressionists, while influenced by the Impressionists, developed their own unique styles that emphasized more structured compositions and bolder colors. Their works offer a deeper exploration of the city's character and its transformative nature.

- Starry Night Over the Rhône, by Vincent van Gogh

- View of Auvers-sur-Oise, by Paul Cézanne

The Modernists

The Modernists, with their radical departures from traditional styles, brought a new perspective to the portrayal of Paris. Their works reflect the city's rapidly changing urban landscape and its emergence as a global cultural center.

- Paris by Night, by Pablo Picasso

The exhibition "We'll Always Have Paris" celebrates the enduring legacy of Paris as a muse to artists. Through the paintings and sketches on display, visitors can experience the city's beauty, charm, and cultural significance from multiple perspectives.

Whether you are a long-time admirer of Paris or a first-time visitor, this exhibition offers a unique opportunity to appreciate the city through the eyes of some of the world's greatest artists. So come and immerse yourself in the timeless enchantment of Paris, a city that has captured hearts and inspired imaginations for centuries.
